Cargoes are taken to the carrier's warehouse on a weekly basis in the relevant country and processed there for transportation (repackaging, placing in pallets, sending to the airport) and on certain days they are sent for transportation. Taking into account the location of the carrier's warehouse in another country, the difference in time, the delay and stopping of electronic means of communication, the inability of the carrier to fully control the work of third parties and companies involved in the transportation work of the Republic of Azerbaijan, the timely provision of information by the customer and other objective reasons, the customer's refusal to transport the goods (from the services of Camex LLC) in some cases becomes impossible. For example: when the customer makes a demand to refuse transportation, his / her cargo is already placed in a pallet and sent to the airport for transportation. In this case, the customer must understand that, due to his / her refusal to transport, it is impossible to stop the entire shipment, reopen pallets and pick up its cargo, then send back other cargoes, taking into account costs and procedure. refusal of transportation, the carrier will make all possible and acceptable efforts to stop the cargo.
